WHAT CIS OFFERS

A critical success factor for the full achievement of any project objectives and tasks will always be the selection of a project team that can provide the required experience and expertise in aviation operations and safety, as well as the ability to engage and use a variety of specialists' profiles to meet the detailed project needs.

The added value of our services lies in the practical experience of our team members in commercial and military operations, and Air Traffic Control.

As the aviation sector faces more and more complex problems it is important that our customers can draw on our qualified resources possessing the needed practical experience to meet customers' requirements and to find suitable business solutions. Even more important nowadays, when we are all trying to navigate through the world financial crises.

All CIS experts have extensive international experience within and outside Europe. Together, we have worked in many countries worldwide.

Over many years of participation in initiatives and projects of EUROCONTROL, EC, NATO, ICAO, United States Agency for International Development (USAID), United Nation Mission in Kosovo (UNMIK) and intergovernmental programs, we have gained experience and confidence in our ability to perform and delivery results as a company.

CIS conducts various analyses and provides services to help organisations address increasingly complex problems by providing practical solutions that drive higher levels of performance.
